

01/16/2024 Daily OFMD Recap

02/02/2024 4:51 pm EST

Hey Babes! Starting this a bit early tonight because holy fuck today was a whirlwind. I know I'm gonna forget something so please feel free to add to it. None of this was in any particular order. I figured tonight should be a review of "fun shit" (and news) since we've had some pretty intense days lately.

Off topic here, but Our Flag Means Death was recently canceled after two seasons. A petition to revive the show that has more than 50,000 signatures and the fan campaign has raised north of $20,000 to buy ads to save the show. Why was it canceled and what would it take to bring it back?

Nobody likes to cancel a show. But the fact of the matter is the numbers weren't there for a renewal. But I will say, whenever we cancel a show, if a creator can set it up elsewhere, we support them. That is an option for Our Flag; it didn't make sense for us but it might be for someone else. We let the producers know if they can find a home, we'll be supportive of that.

2. Probably my favorite article from today was over on Hard Drive (which for those of you who don't know is a satire site)

3. There was also this article from Gizmodo talking about the hope for being picked up by another network:

The way this unfolded was beyond insane and I missed half of it, so here are some highlights:
