Hey lovelies, I'm taking it easy tonight and doing a quick recap. Today's a day off for a lot of folks so we'll probably start seeing some more things going on tomorrow/monday. Enjoy some rest <3

Our friends over at @adoptourcrew sent out some love notes today. They're absolutely right, keep creating, keep talking, keep engaging. We'll keep it going.

It's safe to say that the past few weeks (months?) have been a bit of a rollercoaster. In this chaotic media landscape, it's hard to know what the future holds.

But know this: fandom doesn't die! Our Flag Means Death will continue to live on through all of us no matter what.

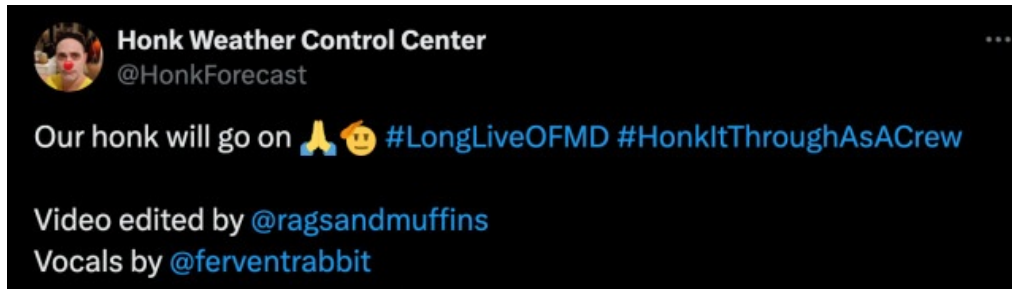

Keep creating, keep talking, keep engaging.

We'll get through this...as a crew.

== Love Notes ==

Thinking of you all tonight. Just wanna say I'm so happy you're out there keeping going. Several of you have reached out for help and I know how hard that can be. You're doing great, we love you and we care how you are. Thank you for trusting us with that vulnerability, I know it's so very hard to do.

I also want to say thank you so much to all of you that reach out to all of us and send love when things are tough. You keep us grounded, thank you lovelies;

Tonight I'm sending some love notes that gave me strength today.

Remember we're here, and we're not going anywhere. Sending love your way m'dears. Rest well <3
