Rhys and the family were at the Central Park Zoo and shared some "bts" regarding their trip on his paid substack!

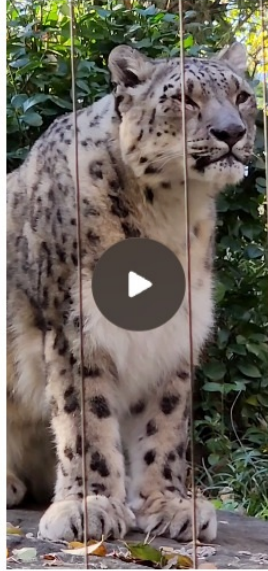

BTS Central Park Zoo

Don't tell me I don't give you the best content for your bucks. Okay, so this isn't really behind the scenes, more.. in front of them. It had been years since we last visited this zoo..

And if that's not enough Darby for you, here's some more Daily Doodles!

Some time (but sooner than you'd think) later..

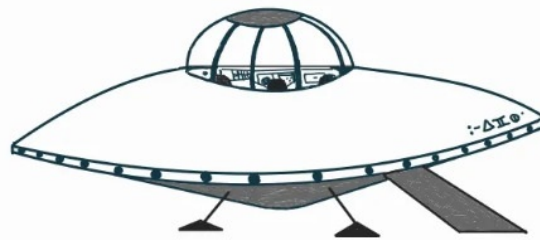

Look at this!
My theory was correct guys!!

What, that the moon is hollow? That's my theory!!

Well, if we're being specific, I had the theory that there'd be a door disguised as a crater!

Happy Hump Day

Hello.

Kia ora!

Well, well, well..

You must be the three living examples of human goodness I presume?

Umm.. sure.

On a less fun, but very important note, Rhys posted this on his bsky as well:

Hi gang. Just some notes going forward for new audience members to stand up..

Please no photos and definitely no videos ever should be taken of me on stage. This could compromise new material. Enjoy being in the moment.

= Taika Waititi =

This video of Taika is absolutely a treat to watch. He talks about all the works he's done with Entertainment Weekly and talks in length about how much he loved working on OFMD!

Our dear Fang has been sending some love to his mum in interviews when asked "Who is the Moana in your life?"

ENTERTAINMENT

“One’s gotta be my mum, absolutely. Another one’s gotta be your grandmother, absolutely.”

David Fane says to NiuFM host Gaby Solomona who is asking the question.

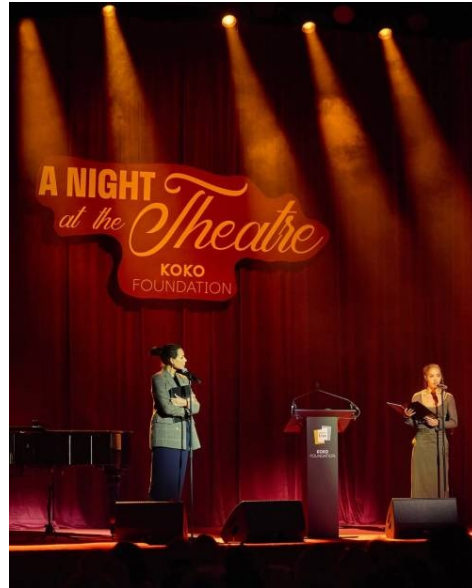

“They’re doyennes. They’ve lived this entire age and formed the world that we are actually lucky to live in.”

Both of our murder wives are in the news today-- (sorry I have to use it, it's the technical term for Mary and Ann), Rachel House's directoral film Te Maunga has been awarded Best Feature film by the Festival Cinema Jeune Public! According to Rachel it's "a festival that aims to open young viewers to the world, awaken their critical gaze and develop their artistic sensitivity in the region of Aisne in France."

The Palm Springs International Film Festival has also selected it for the 2025 line up!

= A03 Data from Seven_Sugars! =

Our friend Ashley aka Seven_sugars over on Twitter and Bsky was kind enough to do more A03 analysis for us!

More OFMD AO3 Data for you!

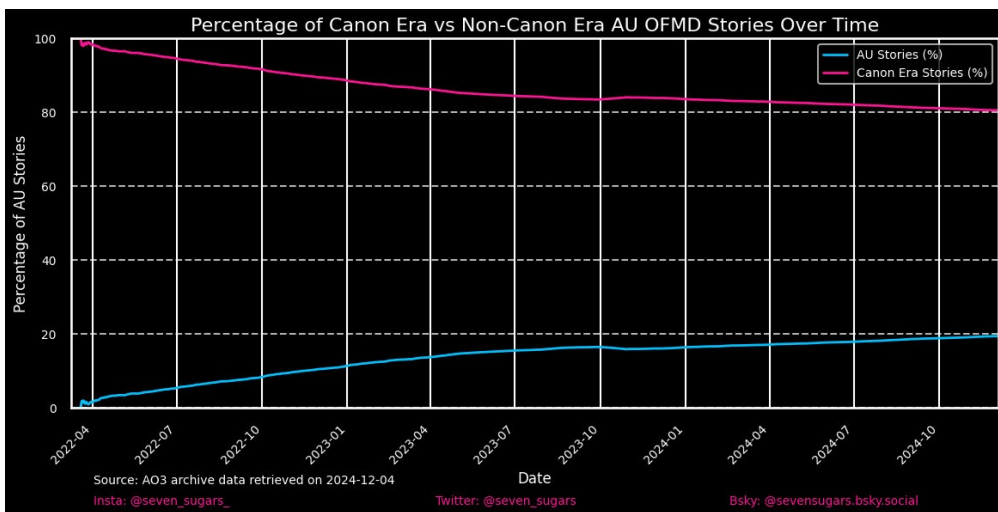

AU stories have become very popular in this fandom, so I was curious how the trend from canon era stories to AU (except canon divergence AU) stories has changed over time.

I looked at stories marked 'Alternative Universe' (except 'Canon Divergence' or 'Modern').

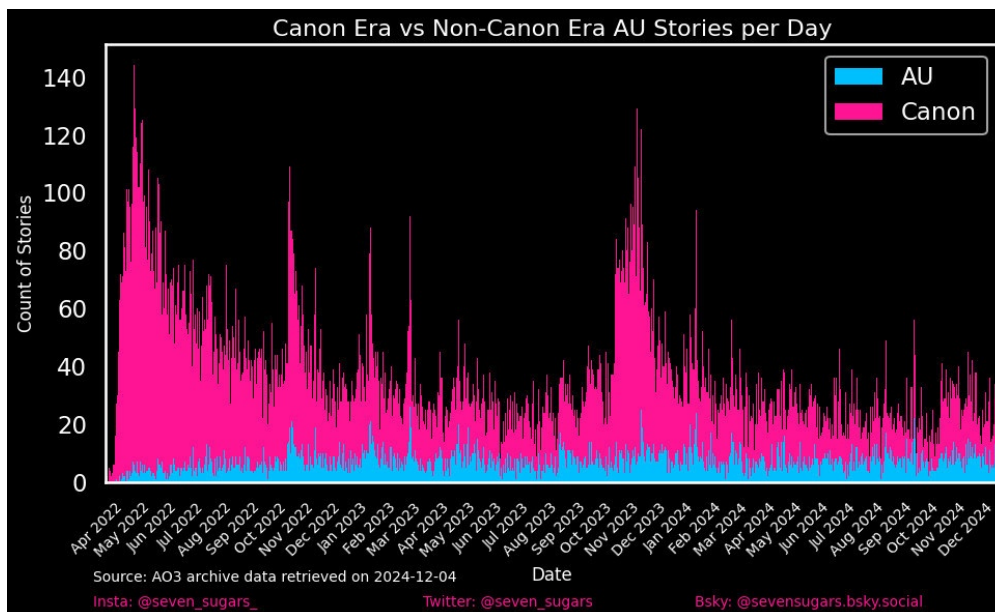

Buttons (Ashley) ✨GCC✨ 🇺🇸 🇧🇷 🇮🇳 @sevensugars.bsky.social · 4d

You can see from the increasing size of the blue part of the graph above, there have been more AU stories over time. At this point, just under 20% of OFMD stories on AO3 are AU.

 Buttons (Ashley) ✖️ ✨GCC✨ ✖️ 🇺🇸🇩🇪🇪 @sevensugars.bsky.social · 4d
You can also see that AU trends are somewhat consistent on average, with jumps in published stories around new seasons identified as mostly non-AU/Canon stories.

== Love Notes ==

Hoooweeee, what a week! Slowly catching up on things, apparently I'm just perpetually 4 - 6 days behind right now. But you know what? That's life sometimes! I appreciate all yalls patience!

I saw this really cute love note from NikkiMiles on Instagram and it started me thinking about pressure and how much it can affect us. Something I wanted to remind everyone, including myself,-- is that pressure is great for turning carbon into diamonds, and while human beings are 18% carbon, social and emotional pressure doesn't do the same thing to us as immense pressure does to pure carbon.

The kind of pressure we deal with day to day from our bosses, and our family, and our society, in small doses can push us to be something more than we want to be, but in large doses can really start to weigh on us and cause major problems with our physical and mental health.

This is just a gentle reminder that you are already shiny, and unique, and invaluable! You don't need crushing pressure to make you into something society or your family wants you to be-- you already are that wonderful thing! So please rest if you can-- let some things go if you need to. You are so much more than your responsibilities and burdens. You are shiny, and beautiful, and strong, and brilliant, and you are allowed to rest.

Take care lovelies, have a great week!
