Hey Crew. There's been a lot of heavy stuff happening lately. I spent a bunch of time working on backing up some tiktok vids from the crew, and then they brought it back so it's available again yay! But if you are interested in downloading any of the copies because you don't have a tiktok account you can do so here.

= David Jenkins =

Sad days, the legend David Lynch passed away on Jan 15th. So many of our cast & crew put together lovely dedications for him. I'll try to add more to the repo, but I'm running out of image room here. He made a huge impact in so many lives and will be greatly missed. David shared this photo of him with the words "Goodbye King". RIP sir.

= Lindsey Cantrell =

Our dear Lindsey Cantrell, set decorator for OFMD S2, has been pivotal in sharing so much information and support of cast & crew and so many others affected by the LA fires. She put together a beautiful dedication filled with hope I just wanted to share with you. She continues to be a beacon of kindness.

The strength & beauty of this city and the people in it...

LA is filled with artists and creators, and this line of work takes you all over the city. We all have memories in these places. We all have friends who've lost everything.

The people I've met here over the years have made me who I am. Older generation set dressers talking about the history, friends opening up about their passions, getting to bring my Midwestern mom to see the ocean, the work ethic to lend a hand. I love it here. It's been amazing to see LA hasn't lost its spirit. #LAstrong

Max

Our Flag Means Death begins by focusing on the gentleman pirate Stede Bonnet (played by Rhys Darby) and his gang of pirates before focusing more on the unexpected romance between Stede and Ed Teach/Blackbeard (played by Taika Waititi). It's one of those series that is by turns whimsical and absurd, but it's also very touching, and it's also notable for the way that it went out of its way to include a great deal of LGBTQ+ diversity both in its cast and in the stories that it chose to tell.

== Love Notes ==

Hey there lovelies. Been a bit of a time huh? So much has happened in just a weeks time... David Lynch passed, The Gaza Ceasefire was announced, the inauguration in the US happened (I'm about a week late on this edition which is why there's a time discrepancy.

It has been a complete shit show everywhere, and I've seen a lot of different emotions bouncing around. First and foremost, grief, sadness, fear, but also hope, and perseverance.

Whatever big feels you're feeling right now, please know that they are so incredibly valid. This shit is hard to live through, so take a break, cope how you need to cope okay? You take care of you, and let us know if we can help somehow.

I wanted to share this here because I wrote this the other day as kind of a love note that couldn't wait for a recap, and a way for me to express myself with all the muddled feelings I was experiencing, it's about community and your individual impact.

If you'd like to read it, you can do so on my main blog, here.

If not, no worries-- here's some love notes for all our siblings who need them today. So much love to all our LGBTQ+ Family, but huge hugs to our trans and non binary sibs who are going through it real hard at the moment. We love you, you are valid. We are here for you okay?
